PLASTIC PACKAGING

Tooled up and ready to go!

No tool...just cool! It can take months and a considerable investment in injection mold tooling and equipment before you can begin taking advantage of all the power of plastic packaging. Exciting shapes...living hinge closures...a multitude of colors. All the features that the biggest consumer brands use to entice consumers.

But what if your cool new plastic package already exists, with no enormous investment in tooling? Now you could go toe-to-toe with your biggest competitors for a fraction of the startup cost – and start winning those consumer hearts and minds like never before.

Introducing tool-free plastic packaging from J.L. Clark.

Four great structures to choose from. Already tooled up and ready to go. With all the features, functionality and value-added post-mold operations that will separate your great new plastic packaging from that average package on the shelf next to yours.

Your customers will simply love the easy-to-hold shapes...

the secure, reliable fit of living hinge or slide top closures...attractive decorating options with any color plastic and custom labeling. Your competitors will think you spent a fortune – and hate you for it.

Ready to get started? There's no time – or tooling – to waste.
